

Solution

- a) There is not necessarily such a stable matching because such a pair does not necessarily exist.
- b) Yes, the matching must exist. If it did not exist, that would mean that  $m$  and  $w$  would prefer each other to whatever match they did have, and so the matching would not be stable.